

ALL WE LOVE

HOME
COLLECTION

Allwelope presents its new home line, Allwelope Home

Home has been born with a new vision of comfort and has created an exclusive and unique ecosystem where we always count on noble and sustainable materials. Our linens, Egyptian percale cottons and ramie are carefully selected and are Oeko-tex certified, among others. The result is a sophisticated and cosy atmosphere inviting you to harmony and relaxation.

Our next project is focused on quality and sustainability and one of our objectives is to communicate these values to our clients so that they can appreciate the positive impact that their purchase has on the environment. We produce ethically and responsibly, and we strive to minimize our environmental and social impact.

One of our most used materials is linen, an environmentally friendly fabric that is sourced from its own plant and requires less water and pesticides than other crops. In addition, linen is biodegradable and can be recycled.

We personally braid natural cotton fibers by hand to create ropes of various colors and use them in our HOME products, such as covers, bedspreads, tablecloths, placemats and cushions, creating a world of exclusivity. This handmade approach is our way of providing unique and personalized products to our customers and we are really very proud of it.

Our duvet cover is both a duvet cover and a quilt. The outer fabric is 100% linen, and the inner fabric is 300 thread count mercerized combed Egyptian percale cotton, extremely soft to the touch for extra comfort. We have added a 10 cm hem on each side of the cover to give it the necessary length to function as a bedspread as well.

The design and proportions are worked out in different qualities on request. We offer diversity in order to adjust as much as possible to the wishes of our market. In this way we are able to adjust our prices by offering different qualities.

Anecdotaly, our entire team is made up of only women, except for our wonderful computer scientist. Supporting and empowering women in the workplace is essential for gender equality and is an important step towards creating a more inclusive and diverse society.

Thank you very much

ALLWELOVEHOME & SANAA

We are very excited to announce our upcoming collaboration with Sanaa. Sanaa is much more than a handicraft workshop, it is a place where a passion for art and the goal of making a positive social impact come together. Each vase, each piece, each fabric represents a love story. These items are much more than just products, they are a symbol of hope, inclusion and sustainability. The glassware is special and unique, each piece is made one by one using the blown glass technique with artisanal skill and dedication, conveying the spirit of AllwloveHOME and Sanaa. Here is a small sample of Sanaa's unique glassware. Each piece is a work of art in itself, carefully crafted to captivate your senses and add a touch of elegance to your everyday life

By choosing these products, you are not only purchasing beauty and quality, but also supporting a noble cause and promoting positive change in society.

The most incredible thing about Sanaa is that, in addition to offering exceptional products, it supports education in Tanzania. A percentage of Sanaa's profits go to Born to Learn, a free school in Mochi, Tanzania, which provides educational opportunities for Tanzanian children. AllwloveHome supports this project by donating a percentage of its profits. By choosing our products, you will be contributing directly to this noble purpose. Every AllwloveHome item and every piece of Sanaa glassware invites you to be part of something bigger, to join us in our mission to make a difference and create a better world. We are sure you will fall in love with these unique and dazzling creations.

TEXTILS

Cotton

Percalle Egyptian combed and mercerised 300 thread count 180 thread count cotton.

-Combed cotton is more durable, softer and brighter than standard cotton. This is because because during the spinning process it is combed, i.e. the textile fibres that compose it are sorted after being carded.

Combing is done by sorting the fibres by removing the short fibres and orienting them in one direction only, along the carded ribbon.

*Mercerisation is carried out at low temperature with soda, and transforms the yarn, modifies its section and makes it softer, shinier and more hygroscopic (ability to easily absorb the water molecules present in the surrounding environment). The process alters the very structure of the cotton cells, they swell and the fibres become circular instead of flat at the microscopic level. This results in higher brightness, greater tear strength, reduced dyeing and reduced stability in subsequent washings. All these characteristics make the cotton pearl, beautiful and lustrous, with a soft touch and a fresh feeling that lets the body breathe. For this reason mercerised cotton is often used for sheets and blankets, guaranteeing a comfortable embrace in the intimacy of the bed.

Linen

Textile linen is the fibre of the flax plant. Clothes made from this material can absorb up to 20% water without feeling damp. They are very cool fabrics because they absorb heat very well. It is stronger than cotton, but it is not elastic which makes it crease easily. This material does not allow bacteria to grow.

The flax plant requires less water to grow and does not require pesticides, making it a fabric with less environmental impact. Organic flax is grown using a crop rotation system that prevents soil degeneration and ensures the protection of the soil and important ecosystems. For all these reasons, linen is a sustainable and ecofriendly noble material.

Ramie

Ramie is a fabric made from natural fibres, just like flax or jute. Ramie fibre and nettle threads are the materials of the future. Warm in winter and cool in summer, its advantages are innumerable, resistant to bacteria, mould and insect attack. Highly absorbent, it dyes easily, withstands high water temperatures, improves with washing, does not shrink and can be bleached. Like flax and hemp, ramie has a low environmental impact, and its cultivation is sustainable.
